You'd better plan on eating lots of candy, having a shining clean car, and buying somebody's else's old clothes this week-end, because all Fulton High School classes are out to work like fury raising money for their candidate for home-coming queen. The Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors are working especially hard because the Senior class has been successful in naming their candidate home-coming queen each year since they were freshmen. Here are the candidates for whom their classmates will be "beating the bushes." Left to right: Senior Susanne Walker, Sophomore Lana Hutchens, Junior Mary Elizabeth Mitchell and Freshman Rita Craven.

Young Bernard Harvey, 17 Dies From Accident Injuries

All of Fulton was shocked this morning when it was learned that Bernard Harvey, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Harvey died at five a. m. Wednesday morning from injuries suffered in an automobile accident about midnight Tuesday. The Harveys are former Fultonians. Mr. Harvey was the administrator of Haws Memorial Hospital until he moved away about nine years ago to accept similar positions at Scottsville, then at Murray.

Young Harvey, who graduated from Murray High this summer was preparing to enter college this fall. The accident occurred on Sycamore Street in Murray while the youth was returning to his home after an outing with some of his friends.

Dr. J. N. Converse, who witnessed the accident said that he was approaching the Harvey car when it appeared that the young man probably lost control when he was dazzled by the lights of the on-coming car. The car hit a tree. Rushed to the Murray Hospital in a comatose condition, Dr. C. C. Lowery said that the injuries did not appear to be too serious. However, reports indicated that death occurred from complications.

He is survived by his parents, another brother William 14, and a sister Lisa, 11. Funeral services will be held at ten o'clock Friday morning from St. Leo's Catholic Church in Murray, with Father M. M. Mattingly officiating. The rosary will be recited at the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home tonight (Thursday) at eight o'clock.

Bernard attended St. Edward's Catholic School in Fulton. Fulton joins the entire West Kentucky area in extending deep sympathies to the Harvey family.

Miss America, Past And Present, Central American Dignitaries, Famous Talent To Attend Big Events

Miss America 1965—Who Will She Be?

There's no telling . . . but, whoever she is, she will be as the Second International Banana Festival this year. Here Donna Axum, Miss America of 1964 who also will attend the Festival, is shown doing a little practicing for the crown she will place on the head of her successor at the pageant in Atlantic City on September 12.

Applicants Sought To Serve As Ambassadors of Goodwill

WANTED - Civic minded and dedicated couples to act as official hosts and hostesses to visiting dignitaries during the Banana Festival. Must be able to devote full-time and furnish transportation for October 1, 2, and 3. Interesting work, but no pay. If you will volunteer your services, please contact Cayita Olive, Fulton-South Fulton Chamber of Commerce, phone 43, not later than September 15th.

This is an advertisement that ordinarily would appear in the classified section of this newspaper. But the News publishers are printing it on the front in order that the readers of this newspaper, who feel that they can help the Festival will respond to the appeal.

To serve as an official host to a visiting dignitary involves the qualifications that most twin citizens already possess . . . friendliness, warmth, hospitality and the ability to perform as an ambassador without portfolio.

The duties are pleasant. They require that the host be at the constant disposal of the guests; that transportation is provided, that their wishes be fulfilled and that they be given a first-hand opportunity to see how Mr. and Mrs. Small Town America live and work.

If you feel that you can qualify for an official host, call Mrs. Olive today! The phone number is 43.

Avenue of the Americas

Flying for only a few hours to determine the exact manner by which they will be permanently erected these flags above have been snapped by hundreds of tourists passing through the city. The flags are located on a triangle of ground bordering in Tennessee and Kentucky at the Derby Cafe. To be called "The Avenue of the Americas" the attention-compelling view will be completed next week and appropriate dedicatory ceremonies will be held later this month. Kneeling at the right is W. D. Powers, City of Fulton public works supervisor who has worked untiringly to assist in erecting the flag poles and generally supervising the whole undertaking. James Hood, an assistant stands behind Mr. Powers. C. N. Glover of the Tennessee Department of Highways and J. B. Boaz of Newbern also rendered valuable assistance in establishing the area.

Miss America of 1965 (to be named in Atlantic City on September 12) Donna Axum, Miss America of 1964, the Ambassadors of four Central American countries, Aunt Jemima of pancake fame, Oliver L. Sause, the head of the State Department's Central American affairs, and some official representatives from other Central American countries are the principal dignitaries who have indicated they will attend the second International Banana Festival on October first through the third. Meanwhile a scintillating amount of talent to appear at the various scheduled programs, including Jazz King, Al Hirt, will be in the twin cities to entertain the large crowds of visitors expected to enjoy this year's Festival.

The ambassadors are: Gonzalo J. Facio of Costa Rica, Carlos Garcia-Bauer of Guatemala, Jose Antonio Correa of Ecuador and Dr. Eduardo Uribe of Colombia.

Officials of Central American governments are: Gonzalo Blanco, Agricultural Attache, Mexican Embassy, Washington, D. C.; Hector Molina Garcia, Minister of Natural Resources, Tegucigalpa, Honduras; Jose C. Cardenas, Minister of Production, Quito, Ecuador; two delegates of the Municipal Council, Quito, Ecuador; Lic. Mario Alberto Brown Peralta, Presidente Municipal del Centro, Villahermosa, Mexico, and Lorenzo Guerrero, Minister of the Interior and Annexes, Managua, Nicaragua. Mr. Guerrero will be accompanied by his wife.

Meanwhile invitations have been extended to the Senators, Congressmen and Governors of Kentucky and Tennessee. While some of them have strongly indicated that they will attend, none have sent formal acceptances as yet.

Again, the reigning American beauty of 1965 will attend the Festival on the big day of the Festival on Saturday. Though a formal acceptance has not been received from the Miss America Beauty Pageant Committee in Atlantic City, Brad Fraypart, Miss America's business manager, advised Mrs. Paul Westpheling by telephone last week that the new Miss America will surely be here for the Festival. Her travel arrangements and schedule will be handled by Charles Reams of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company, one of the national sponsors of the Miss America Beauty Pageant.

Donna Axum, well known and beloved in Fulton and West Kentucky will again visit the twin cities for the second annual Festival. Miss Axum will appear at the preliminaries of the beauty pageant on Friday night, ride in the parade and also appear with the new Miss America at the beauty pageant finals on Saturday night. The new Miss America will also ride in the parade and attend the various official functions on Saturday.

In the "talent" department Al Hirt will bring other artists here for a show at Memorial Stadium on Saturday night. The Admiral's Band from the Naval Air Station in Memphis, a marimba band from Guatemala, a musical group from Costa Rica and other singing groups from this area will be here. The complete program is listed elsewhere on this page.

TV Star Dave Overton To Emcee Beauty Pageant

A star-studded Beauty Pageant to select "Miss International Banana Princess" of 1964 is shaping up for the Second International Banana Festival in Fulton, Kentucky, and South Fulton, Tennessee, the nights of October 2nd and 3rd.

Master of ceremonies will be versatile, well-liked Dave Overton of WSM-TV, Nashville, who has handled the "Miss Tennessee" Pageant in Jackson Tennessee for six years.

Invitations have gone out to 80 beautiful girls in the Mid-South area, including many who have appeared either in the "Miss Tennessee" or "Miss Kentucky" Pageants this year, and to many more who have appeared in other area competitions this summer. And, in addition, more beauties are being invited, provided contestants are 18 years of age and not over 25, are unmarried and have not been married. From this field approximately 40 will be screened for the two-night show.

A beautiful, specially-constructed setting will again be used to highlight the contestants, who will be judged in swim suits, formals and on personality. Five well-qualified judges who live out of the Fulton area will rate the entries, and vote tabulations will be handled by certified public accountants, as was done last year. they go on sale.

On Friday night, October 2nd, Miss Donna Axum—the current reigning Miss America—will appear on the program along with four other special entertainment presentations. This will be the "preliminary" judging, at which the contestant field is narrowed down to 10 or 15 for the finals next night.

On Saturday night, October 3rd, the finals will open with a half-hour jazz program by Al Hirt and his combo. At the conclusion of the competition the new Princess will be crowned by the 1965 "Miss America", making one of her first public appearances following the winning of her crown at Atlantic City. A host of other notables are also expected to be present, and be recognized.

Because the Fulton High school auditorium will accommodate only 1000 balcony admissions and 500 reserved seats each night, the program is expected to be an easy sell-out, and those wishing tickets are urged to get them as soon as they go on sale.

Jottings From

Jo's

Notebook

T. C. Taylor told me that his cousin, R. L. (Little Bill) Taylor, of the Ken-Tenn Auto Sales was just about going crazy trying to find out who his visitors were last week. He has a right to have some kind of tremors. Here's the note the cousin found on his door when he got home one night: "We were here and you were gone. Now you're here and we're gone." Ain't it awful?

But not half as bad as the way I bit into a trap set for me by Ernest McCollum. Talking a little politics the other day, Ernest said to me with a serious look: "I hear Goldwater has killed all his cattle."

"Why in the world did he do that?" I asked.

He caught them eating Johnson grass."

Ouch, again!

Elsewhere in this issue you'll find a story about some adult education classes that will be offered here after the first of the year. Usually I read these releases and think they're intended for somebody else, but this time, I think I'm going to be a student for real. So that I won't have to hear "you didn't quote me right" anymore, I think I'll take a course in Stenograph ABC shorthand. I've tried to learn shorthand three times in my life time and it never got through to me. The man from the school said I could learn in 20 lessons. Wouldn't cost but about seven dollars. There're also classes in interior decorating, window display, etc.

How about being my class-mate? I think it would be fun!

Growing Republican Vote In Fulton, First District Is Cue For Democratic Big-Wigs To Do Something New

Bill Powell, the executive editor of the Paducah Sun-Democrat is one of our all-time, all-time favorite people. If ever a fellow could be called a newspaperman's newspaperman, it's that genial reporter, columnist and editor who knows First District politics from a to izzard, as the saying goes.

In last Sunday's Paducah-Sun, Bill wrote a magnificent feature story entitled the "First District is on the Spot Again." Besides being chock full of trends and incidents, it is a piece of writing that anybody who likes to discuss politics should get and keep for future reference. The story reveals the names of all the Congressmen who have served the First District, their tenures of office, and a biographical sketch of each of them.

It is a priceless bit of writing; an outstanding bit of reference material. We love it and defy anybody to borrow it without signing an agreement that they will return it.

We were particularly interested in Bill's account of the growing amount of Republican support that is evidenced in Fulton County and other First District Counties. It's hard to believe, but the facts are there, startling and significant.

When we first came to Fulton County, some 17½ years ago, it was always something of a joke to even count the Republican ballots in a general election, because they were so few. As a matter of fact, as far as registered Republicans are concerned, the number is dramatically infinitesimal (180), but in the 1960 election 1057 people voted for the Republican nominee for Governor (Louie Nunn) compared to 1690 for the Democratic nominee (Edward T. Breathitt), who is a gentleman from the First District.

In 1960 a whopping 1567 votes were cast for Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon, while 2661 voted for Democratic nominee John F. Kennedy. Even if the political analysts could blame this Republican vote on the religious issue in the 1960 campaign, the fact that the ratio last year was almost the same should be some kind of a shocking eye-opener to the Democratic powers that be.

In 1960 the Democrats polled about 59 per cent of the vote and the Republicans 41 per cent. In 1963, with a First District candidate for Governor, lieutenant-governor, treasurer, and superintendent of education, the Democrats got 62½ per cent of the vote and the Republicans 37½ per cent.

It's almost frightening to think what would have happened in Fulton County and the First District if the ticket had not contained all that First District "pulling power." Ned Breathitt would NOT have been governor today, that's what would have happened.

Unless the situation changes greatly between now and election day in November, from what we hear this Barry Goldwater has an almost unbelievable amount of strength in this county and the First District. We have been more than surprised at the outspoken Goldwater strength in this area, particularly among the labor folks. You know Fulton County is heavily populated by labor union members.

It is true that in recent years, what with a candidate's platform and personality exposed to television, people are voting more and more "for the man" rather than the party. Yet, unless some drastic changes are made in the overall concept of vote-getting in this alleged First District Gibraltar of Democracy, we're going to wake up some day after a general election and find that the solid bed-rock of the Democratic party in the First District will have submerged in the waters of the changing times.

The truth of the matter is that a new, young and vigorous generation of Democrats is coming to the forefront in the First District and everywhere else. They care not one whit for the old family political ties that were strung to the coat-tails of Happy Chandler, Tom Rhea, Earle Clements, Doc Beauchamp or anybody else. These young folks, (and gee they're multiplying fast) talk issues, their security in a nuclear age, the problems of education, crime, social welfare. They're going to vote for the fellow whom they think can do something about it, no matter whether he looks like a jack-ass or an elephant. We know, our household is always filled with young people, many of whom will be voting this year, and we can see the hand-writing on the wall for the hackneyed, archaic methods to get voters to rally around the Democratic party boys.

The last hurrah of the political boss who could "control" several hundred votes was echoed out of sound years ago. The person to whom the politicians look for such deliverance has been around for so long, has made so many enemies, that if by chance he could deliver the votes of his family, his enemies more than negate this strength. But yet, the bigwigs can't see it at all!

This county "contact man" business is one of the greatest evils ever perpetrated on level-headed, clear thinking voters. Last year we had any number of young people come in for jobs with the Parks Department, highways, forestry and many other departments. Applications, from highly qualified, honor students were sent in, only to be pigeon-holed because the applicant was not acceptable to the contact man. As one youngster put it: "I don't know him; I didn't vote for him when he ran for office, and I wouldn't if he ran again. If my qualifications don't merit a job, forget it!"

He did, and so did the department involved.

This young fellow walked out of our office disillusioned. He heard Ned Breathitt say he wanted young people to work and live in Kentucky. He didn't recall, and couldn't understand why a local fellow had to stand between promise and reality.

Many years ago a loyal Democrat, viewing the fact that the First District was taken too much for granted at election time, said: "What we ought to do in this county is go Republican one time, then they'd appreciate us."

Looks to us like appreciation day is nearer than we think.

Of course, we know politics well enough to know that people in high office need people in the hinterlands to advise and counsel with them. But this young generation of voters wants new frontiers of opportunity, not stagnant political strategy.

Well, anyway Bill Powell said that even if the Republicans don't carry Fulton, and yet there is some possibility, the fact remains that more people here will vote Republican than ever before. It will not be a Goldwater vote really, it will be a protest vote . . . a protest against being taken for granted too many years, too long.

Here's what Bill had to say, at least about Fulton and Fulton County.

Fulton County has always been Democratic. No one can remember when it had anything but weak Republican sentiment.

But Fulton partially is a land of vast farms and tenant houses and a deep "Old South" feeling, and this year wrath at the public accommodations part of the civil rights bill and its symbol in general has reached a boiling point.

Even old pro Democrats say that if the Republicans don't carry Fulton — and this would be a flashing sign of a miraculous turnover — that more people will vote Republican than ever before.

As strange as it is to see Goldwater support chopping out cotton or soybeans in the Fulton County Delta, it is there. It also is there among the big land-owners and in the dim one-bulb lights of the little houses on the flat farms.

"I'd rather pay my own Social Security than have the law tell me I have to eat with a nigger," said one grumbled oldtimer dependent already on Social Security.

"I sure hope Mr. Goldwater wins," said a youth hoeing in a field, and with a family living in a boxy little house at the edge of a great cornfield.

Fulton gave Nixon 1,567 votes while it was giving Kennedy 2,661. This was considered a moral victory for the Republicans.

Louie Nunn, running against Gov. Breathitt in opposition to the civil rights executive order of Gov. Bert T. Combs, in 1963, also did well there. He polled a gigantic Fulton Republican vote of 1,057 to only 1,690 for Breathitt. The Chandler-Combs split was a factor there in 1963 race, too. Although Waterfield was running with Breathitt for lieutenant governor, the old sores kept many Democrats at home.

STRICTLY BUSINESS by McFadden

"Your guide will be available, gentlemen, just as soon as the search party finds him."

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission. By JOE JORDAN.

One hundred years ago this week—in the early morning of September 4, 1864 — Brig. Gen. John Hunt Morgan of Kentucky, one of the most daring and spectacular of Confederate cavalry leaders, was shot to death in the garden of the Williams mansion, in Greenville, Tenn. He had slept in the house the night before and had been awakened at daylight on a rainy morning to find the place surrounded by Federal soldiers.

Morgan's troops were encamped about Greenville, and pickets had been posted on all roads leading into the town. Union Army cavalry approaching by one of the main roads had left it before reaching its Confederate picket post and had used a small connecting lane to enter another main road inside the picket post on that highway. The surprise was complete.

The Federal soldiers who galloped into town and immediately rode to the Williams home and surrounded it knew exactly where they would find Morgan. Mrs. Joseph Williams, daughter-in-law of the owner of the house, had ridden 18 miles through the mountains to inform Brig. Gen. A. C. Gillem, commander of a cavalry division of the Union Army.

The young woman had nursed a Capt. Keenan, assistant adjutant-general on Gillem's staff, who had been wounded in an earlier battle and had been taken to the Williams mansion. Morgan had paroled Keenan. In violation of his parole, Keenan had written a report detailing the number, position and condition of Morgan's command, and had given it to Mrs. Joseph Williams to convey to the Federal commander. She had concealed it in a prayer book. At a previous time when Morgan was making his headquarters at the house, his chaplain, Dr. Cameron, had picked up the prayer book and found the letter in it. Morgan thereupon had revoked Keenan's parole and, over the protests of the young woman, had sent him to Lynchburg to be held in a prison. Thus Mrs. Williams, besides being a Union sympathizer, had an additional, personal motive for exerting herself against him.

Col. Basil Duke, Morgan's brother-in-law, who succeeded him in command, wrote after the war: "His friends have always believed that he was murdered after his surrender. Certain representations by the parties who killed him, their ruffianly character, and the brutality with which they treated his body, induced the belief . . . His slayers broke down the paling around the garden, dragged him through, and while he was tossing his arms in his dying agonies, threw him across a mule and paraded his body about the town, shouting and screaming in savage exultation."

When Gen. Gillem arrived, he halted the demonstration and sent the body to the Confederates under a flag of truce. It was first buried at Abingdon, Va., later was removed to Hollywood Cemetery at the Confederate States capital, Richmond, and in 1868 was reinterred in his home town in Kentucky, Lexington. There an equestrian statue of the "Thunderbolt of the Confederacy" now stands on the courthouse lawn.

"Let's Talk It Over"

BY

GOV. EDWARD T. BREATHITT

Frankfort—With apologies to St. Louis, may I borrow a line today from a gay and catchy song of several years ago to say that "I'll meet you in Louisville, I'll meet you at the Fair."

State Fair, that is—September 11-19—the 61st showing of one of the greatest exhibitions of its kind in the nation.

The opening day of this year's big show is again called Governor's Day and I have it on my calendar to attend, with the hope that this official act will not bar me from attending in a more personal capacity on later days.

I have been attending State fairs since I was a boy in Hopkintonville and I have always found them interesting and enjoyable. The one this year, I am sure, will prove no exception. I am told it will have something more to offer everybody.

From the holding of the first statewide exhibition at Churchill Downs in Louisville in 1902, Kentucky's State fairs have mirrored the progress of the times.

Progress on the farm has been reflected in improved livestock, seeds and machinery. The housewife, both rural and urban, gets to see what's new in household appliances. Trade and product exhibits are a liberal education to both young and old.

I have just had an opportunity to thumb through four booklets, containing premium lists, published under auspices of the Kentucky State Fair Board. The divisions covered are livestock and agriculture; arts and hobbies; youth; and horse show.

The livestock and agriculture division includes beef and dairy cattle and dairy products, sheep, swine, mules and jacks, poultry, bees and honey, horticulture, field seed, and grain, vegetables and melons, tobacco, and Kentucky country ham.

Being the first held at the Kentucky State Fair, this Kentucky ham show should intrigue one and all, especially gourmets, and, who isn't when it comes to Kentucky ham? One phase of the judging will be on aroma "as determined by probing with a ham trier."

Arts and crafts are grouped with items of culinary skill, textiles, plants and flowers, hobbies, Girl Scouts, philatelic collections, and model planes. Coupled with livestock judging in the youth section are 4-H clubs, Future Farmers, and high school bands.

Then, there is the horse show, a feature since the fair's inception, which has numerous entries in various classes, and which comes to a climax on Saturday night, September 19, with awards in the world's stunning, fine-gaited, $10,000 championship finals.

As many Kentuckians know, the very accessible, $16 million State Fair and Exposition plant on a 357-acre site along Louisville's Watterson Expressway is regarded as one of the largest and finest facilities of its type in the United States. It has parking space for 27,000 cars.

So superb in its field is our State Fair, which opens September 11 and runs through September 19, that I am tempted to take on the character of one of the barkers for its midway carnival attractions and urge one and all to —"HURRY! HURRY! HURRY!"

footprint of 10 tons traveling fast for 11½¢ a mile!

Small spot for a big job! Not even the touch of a ballerina's slipper leaves so tiny a mark.

Yet this is the actual size of the impress on a rail of the wheel of an Illinois Central freight car, a wheel carrying 10 tons or more at perhaps 60 miles an hour.

This small area of surface friction between wheel and rail makes railroad transportation fundamentally economical. Nothing can beat it. Except more efficient railroading.

You'll see many new and larger freight cars rolling on the Illinois Central this year. And each wheel will roll easily on a spot smaller than a penny. Which is nearly all we collect ($0.0114), on the average, to haul a ton of freight one mile.

To achieve more economical transportation for you and all the people of Mid-America, the Illinois Central is spending $35 million for improvements this year, bringing our total since World War II to $485 million.

Miss Little, Mr. Windsor United In Marriage In August Ceremony

The First Christian Church in Clinton was the setting for the wedding of Miss Sarah Lou Little and James Edward Windsor, on Saturday, August 29th, at 8 o'clock in the evening. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Brown, pastor of the First Christian Church in Clinton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bryant Little of Crutchfield. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Windsor of Fulton.

The double-ring ceremony was performed amidst a floral setting of elegant simplicity with white roses, palms, and ferns. Lighted tapers in cathedral candelabra flanked the arrangements.

The family pews were designated with white roses and white puff satin bows.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mr. and Mrs. James Godsey and Mrs. Roy D. Taylor.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of traditional white bridal satin. The fitted bodice was embroidered with imported alencon lace with a scoop neckline and long pointed lace sleeves closed with tiny covered buttons. The back was fastened with tiny self-covered buttons and a magnified rose in the satin marked the beginning of a chapel train. The veil of French illusion fell fingertip in length and was topped by a crown design of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses with satin streamers.

Miss Augusta Sue Little, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Her floor length gown of pale satin featured a bodice lined with pink Brussels lace over satin and had tiny covered buttons to the fitted waist. Her headpiece was small velvet leaves in a delicate shade of pink with pink illusion attached. She carried one long stemmed American Beauty Rose.

The bridesmaids ensembles were identical to the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sally Ordway of Jefferson City, Missouri, Mrs. Kenneth Wessel of St. Louis, Missouri, Mrs. Kenneth Peck of Paducah, Mrs. Robert Whitfield of St. Louis, Missouri, and Mrs. Wayne Brandon of Martin, Tennessee, cousin of the bride.

Miss Leslie McAlister was the flower girl. She wore a white silk organza dress with a very full skirt and a pink velvet band in her empire waistline. Her headpiece was a matching pink velvet ribbon. She carried a basket with pink rose petals which were scattered in the path of the bride. The ring bearer was Timmy Mcmillin.

Attending the groom as best man was Jerry Noffel of Louisville. Groomsmen were George Edward Moore, III of Fulton, Ronald Talent of Louisville, Kenneth Wessel of St. Louis, Frank Cardwell of Fulton, and William Bryant Little, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Little selected a soufflé brocade covered with pink chiffon fashioned in a sheath. Her tiny hat was pink satin and net. She wore a cymbidium orchid.

The grandmother of the bride wore rose lace with matching satin trim. Her small hat and other accessories were of pale pink. She wore an orchid at her shoulder.

The groom's mother chose a blue dress. Matching accessories complimented her dress. She wore an orchid corsage.

The bride's parents entertained with a reception at their home in Crutchfield. Yellow roses and pom poms complimented the color scheme. Mrs. Joe Luten presided at the register. Others assisting at the reception were Mrs. Forrest McAlister, Mrs. Cloyce Veatch, Mrs. Roy Milton Taylor, Mrs. Harold Byrd, and Mrs. Gerald Binford.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Windsor will be at home in Chicago.

Parties honoring Miss Little were a cake party with Mrs. Leslie Tarver and Mrs. Wayne Brandon as hostesses. A tea given by Mrs. Lon Brown, Mrs. Vivian Brown McManahan, and Mrs. Forrest McAlister. A dinner given by Mrs. Robert Duff and Miss Dianne Duff. A brunch given by Mrs. John Havlis and Miss Patty Havlis. A shower given by Mrs. Turney Byrd with other hostesses assisting. The bridesmaids honored her with a personal shower.

Mrs. Neal Little had open house to display her daughter's wedding gifts August 19. Miss Little entertained her bridesmaids with a luncheon. The rehearsal dinner was given at the Park Terrace Restaurant.

Bardwell's Front Street Takes On Festive Flair For Lions Big Fair

Bardwell's downtown Front street this week end will be filled with cotton candy, rock and roll music, home canned fruits and vegetables, and, hopefully, people.

Earlier this week the street was roped off to allow assembly of rides and booths for the local Lions Club annual Fall Festival and County Fair. The fair officially opens at 9 a. m. Friday, September 4, and will close Saturday night.

As in past years, Dixon Amusement company will provide rides and games to supply a carnival atmosphere, while the Lions and other county service clubs will sponsor booths and exhibits.

Cash prizes and ribbons will be offered exhibitors in four divisions—Women's, 4-H, F. H. A. and Adult. County Agent Gordon Henshaw said today that inquiries indicate exhibitors this year will represent a wider segment of the county's population than in previous years.

A double-barreled attraction aimed at teenagers will be two street dances featuring music by The Rebel Rousers. From a new bandstand given the community by Bardwell Lions Club the musical combo will play Friday and Saturday nights after eight o'clock.

Eldred Dixon, manager of the rides section plans to open that part of the fair Thursday afternoon. The amusement company will give away a bicycle Thursday night and another one Friday night. Dixon's appearance at the fair marks the fifth consecutive year he has furnished rides for the Lions Club sponsored event.

All money the Lions realize from the fair goes into a special "fair account" and is used by the service club for community improvement projects. Last year the fair committee announced a profit of approximately $1700.

There is no admission charged and each participating club retains the income from its own booth.

Special police are on duty at all times, and club officials point out there has never been an incident requiring the arrest or expulsion of a visitor to the fair.

FARMERS— Want to Stretch Your Seed Dollar?

Read How You SAVE MONEY With SOUTHERN STATES Quality SEEDS

• Pay Less For Pure Live Seed

Southern States Quality Seeds cost you far less in terms of seeds that can grow to be harvested. Don't pay seed prices for trash such as sticks, straw, other-crop seeds and weed seeds.

• Cut The Cost Of Weeds

It costs you money to fight weeds carried to your fields by inferior, improperly-cleaned seeds. With Southern States high-purity Seeds you cut the cost of spraying and cultivating and get big yields from clean fields.

• Economical Lower Planting Rates

The low germination of inferior seeds forces you to step up the planting rate. So where's the saving? With high-germinating Southern States Seeds, you use recommended planting rates. You save seeds and money.

• Crops Cost Less To Produce

The bigger yields you make with Southern States Quality Seeds result in lower production costs. You pay less to produce a ton of forage or bushel of grain than with inferior seeds. You're dollars ahead.

• Avoid Variety Mixing Losses

When you plant home-grown, neighbor-grown or so-called "bargain-price" seeds, the presence of unwanted varieties can cause expensive problems. Winter-killing. Disease losses. Varying heights and maturities. None of this with true-to-variety Southern States Quality Seeds.

When The Best Seeds Actually Cost You Less, Why Gamble With Home-Grown Or Cheap So-Called "Bargain" Seeds?

Banana Festival Star Al Hirt One Of Nation's Top Musicians

When big (he weighs 299 lbs.) bearded, jovial, exciting Al Hirt—a solid showman to his fingertips—brings his bewitching trumpet into play, on TV, in a night club or at a mammoth concert, there's no doubt that here is the greatest exponent of jazz and the finest trumpet man of this generation.

Famous musicians—Andrew Kostelanetz, Tommy Dorsey, Ray McKinley, Horace Heidt, and many others—have travelled from many parts of the country to thrill to Al Hirt's trumpet magic. They named him "virtuoso of the trumpet" and gave out with extravagant praise of a musician who has, during the past 15 years, remained in New Orleans chiefly because he's been content to stay at home with his wife, Mary, and their eight children.

But on the occasions that Hirt has accepted other dates, he's made the town go wild about what he does to and with music and what he does as a showman on the bandstand. The Pied Piper has nothing over genial, compelling Al Hirt.

In Chicago, night life and motion picture critic Sam Lesner wrote: "Hirt is acknowledged by many experts to be the greatest trumpeter of our day. His trumpet sang out again and again with beauty and power rarely heard on the night life scene where noise and clatter showmanship pass for musicianship. . . . His solo trumpeting in 'What's New?', 'Night and Day', 'Jungle Town' and 'Can't We Be Friends?' were stunning expositions of a trumpet technique that must be classed as virtuosity. . . . Hirt's young men also took solo turns that indicated the individual brilliance of the master's youthful musical disciples."

And Variety, the show business magazine, reported: "This New Orleans-based crew generates a sound that for excitement and ingenuity touches possibly a new standard. Their two-beating has a latitude and dimension that explodes with a compelling creativity every note of the way. And from start to finish, the Hirt crew had the customers in a tumult that veteran room staffers claim was unsurpassed."

The inspiration for all this ecstatic praise had a classical as well as a jazz training. Hirt's father, Alois, a former policeman and now a member of the New Orleans Police Board, and his mother encouraged young Al's love of music. They sacrificed a great deal to give him the best training and education possible. Al attended the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music to gain the background which permits him to go from the wild atmosphere of Dan's Pier 600 to the concert stage with the New Orleans Symphony and get the same amazing reception at both levels of music.

After the Cincinnati Conservatory, Hirt entered military service, served for four years, and on his return joined the Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey bands, Ray McKinley (with whom he toured Europe for one year), and Horace Heidt. Then he settled down in New Orleans—where jazz had reached immortal heights—married and set out to raise eight children.

Hirt said "No" to many attractive offers to leave New Orleans and during the last 15 years has been acclaimed as one of the greatest Dixieland musicians ever to come out of the birthplace of jazz.

But Hirt—who knows the temper of a crowd of music enthusiasts—ranges the whole field of jazz, and refuses to be trapped into beating one style to death. He's too adept a showman for that, and every piece stands on its own (like a gem in the window of Tiffany's) depending on the mood of Hirt and his backers.

He can climb from the dulcet, caressing tones of a poignant ballad—where you can hear a pin fall in the room—to the screaming and flaming trumpet solos that break like an atomic blast. When his audience has heard Hirt, they've had it; and the news races around town. That's why he plays to crowds everywhere!

Besides music, Al loves sports, chiefly baseball and football. Although his eight children include six girls, this doesn't stop everybody from joining in. With his wife, Mary, that adds up to ten, and includes even an extra short centerfielder.

Well-read, a facile, articulate speaker, with a native sense of humor (that gets added laughs on the bandstand), Hirt is an intensive, painstaking artist who talks with imagination about the world we live in and the music that he and his fans find to be an ideal release of tension and the search for beauty in all of us.

True showmanship in music is rare today. Al Hirt has developed it to the extent that he rose from relative obscurity (outside New Orleans) to national demand in a few brilliant engagements.

Details Of Interstate 24 Route Not To Be Determined For Year

The exact route of Interstate Highway 24 in Western Kentucky and Cumberland Rivers to the Ed-dyville-Princeton area, then south-year, according to Highway Commissioner Henry Ward. He added that it seems safe to assume bids will not be taken on the super-highway until at least 1966.

The route approved recently for the St. Louis to Nashville highway calls for 90.4 miles of expressway to be constructed from a new bridge on the Ohio River near Paducah, east across the Tennessee

The federal government will pay 90 percent of the road's estimated cost of $97 million.

Several public meetings must be held to determine what economic effects the locating of the road will have on certain areas.

County Farmers Get Information On Wheat Program

Wheat program information applicable of individual farms has been sent to wheat growers in Fulton County, according to Roy Bard, county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service chairman.

The notices list the 1965 farm wheat allotment, the farm's normal yield, the allocation for marketing certificates, the rate of the payment available for wheat diversion, and the conserving base established for the farm.

Bard urges farm operators to study the notice information carefully so that farming plans for the next growing season may be completed while there is still opportunity to file applications under the 1965 voluntary wheat program. The sign-up will extend through October 2.

Fulton County Sheriff Joe Campbell and his wife and children paid a recent visit to the office of Kentucky Governor Edward T. Breathitt. While there a cameraman snapped this nice family group and sent the photo on to the News. Sheriff Campbell, who served as Fulton County campaign chairman for Breathitt, gave two of his children a real thrill by having them sit in the Governor's chair. Who knows, coming events cast their shadows before.

DETROIT NEWS

By Roy Maurer

We have a large parade and ribbon cutting to open the State Fair in Detroit and, as usual, it is bigger and better than last year, with lots of name bands and good entertainment for those from six to sixty to enjoy.

Jimmy Yates, who has been in a Paducah Hospital for a long time, is now at home in Detroit recovering, slow, but sure.

Grace Mohler is back home, after spending two weeks vacation in Mayfield, Ky. Looks rested and put on a little weight.

Steve White leaves after Labor Day to attend State College at Alma, Mich. for four years. We will miss Steve, as he has been piano player in Sunday School for a long time.

Paul and Cora Drake spent two weeks in Sarasota, Florida. What a good coat of tan!

Tommy and Lillie Mae Clark had a good time on their vacation with his boys doing the driving. He said they saw places they never had time to look at before.

Rev. Pete Myers and Rev. E. W. Johnson are here to show pictures of the Holy Land. While here they visited old friends and spoke in several churches and were enjoyed wherever they went. Last Sunday evening Faith Church attended First Church, as Rev. Johnson showed the pictures. He had his sermon based on the pictures and it was educational.

The youth rally this month was at Faith Church. With the First and Grace Churches were churches from Ohio and it was very interesting and educational to see our youth take parts and discussions in everything on the program.

Mrs. E. J. Andre, from El Paso, Texas, daughter Barbara and son Michael were guests of Roy and Lucille last week.

Mrs. Essie Turner spent the week end at our house and attended church with us.

They dug the basement last Thursday for our pastor's new manse and, as usual, it has rained since. Should be dry weather soon, so they can start to put the building up.

David Bowden has been promoted to head teller and cashier at the new branch of Michigan Bank of Detroit.

The new 200 bed hospital in Warren is progressing rapidly. It is badly needed out there, as the one we have is only 50 beds, which is very small.

See you in church. If you cannot come in, smile as you go by.

Your Wisest investment of time... REGULAR CHURCH WORSHIP

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

"LABOR IS LIFE"

Carlyle

Let's talk about labor — work, if you please, for that is what labor is. Labor has come a long, long way since ancient times when work was closely related to slavery. Aristotle described a slave as "a tool with life in it." In the Middle Ages, labor gained dignity and respect as slavery declined and Christianity spread. Then, later in the 1700's and 1800's the industrial revolution created conditions that led to the modern labor movements. Today labor has gained respect, wages and working conditions hitherto unknown before.

Labor is life. Work is satisfying. Through his work a man accomplishes, and creates, and provides for himself and his family. When deprived of the opportunity or ability to work, man often becomes depressed, even ill.

I Corinthians 3:9 tells us that "We are laborers together with God." We are His hands, feet, voice, and compassionate heart here on earth to spread the gospel, lift up the poor, eradicate ignorance and destroy disease.

Honor God and Labor this week by attending church.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

It is no idle conversation to say that a recent meeting at the New Orleans City Hall was filled with emotions . . . all kinds of them. In the photo above, left to right, Mrs. Paul Westpheling shows real amusement at being made an honorary citizen of New Orleans for the second time. The first time the certificate was presented was when a group of four persons went to New Orleans last Fall for the initial discussion of the Banana Festival. Others in the party last year were W. P. (Dub) Burnette, Nathan Wade and Mrs. Maxwell McDade, all of whom were made honorary citizens.

Standing next to Mrs. Westpheling is the Consul-General of Ecuador Arregui-Vileri who delayed his trip to Quito just to meet the local delegation. Said the Ecuadorian official: "Nothing was more important than to meet with you people to tell you how much we appreciate what you are doing for our country." He was deeply impressed.

And Mary Nelle (Mrs. Hendon) Wright appears to have that look of happiness that comes with the culmination of a successful undertaking. It was Mary Nelle who dreamed up the Baby Blanket Brigade.

The gent at the far right is Mayor of New Orleans Victor Schiro. He seems extremely pleased to have officiated at the baby blanket "delivery" in his city. Mayor Schiro expressed his enthusiastic interest in the Banana Festival. An invitation was extended to him by the local ladies and Mayor Schiro said he would make every effort to come.

The scenery in the background, inanimate through it is, appears to have a look of relief to unload the blankets it carried from Fulton to New Orleans, a total of 560 miles with four folks also riding along.

It was a wonderful expression of friendliness from the twin cities to those indigent mothers who gave birth to little ones at the Rimmer Memorial Hospital

Sports Final

R. Paul Westpheling, III

The Obion County Rebels, combining expert running and passing, trampled the Fulton City Bulldogs 19-7 here Friday night. The Rebels scored in the first quarter, with the game still young. They again capitalized in the 3rd and 4th quarters. Obion gained an extra point on the first attempt, but failed in the other two. Johnny Lewis was very deadly with his quickie pass for Obion. Their touchdowns were scored on plays of this nature.

Fulton only scored once. James Hurt, a 5'9" 165-pound senior half-back, carried the pigskin over for the touchdown and the extra point. James seemed to be the star, running and tackling back of both teams. James works hard and shows much improvement in a year. If he goes to college, he will be rated very highly in football standards.

Jimmy Yates, a senior center, also showed his greatness of ability. He became a determining factor in the game. This boy was great as a tackle, also. If it had not been for Jimmy, the Bulldogs might have lost the game by an even greater score.

The final score: Obion Central 19, Fulton City 7. Next week look for results of the Fulton at Fulton County game.

See you soon!

DEVILS PLAY GREENFIELD!
The South Fulton Red Devils will play Greenfield tomorrow (Friday) night at 8 p. m. at South Fulton Memorial Field. This will be the third game of the season and their first appearance at home.

Price is $1.00 per car. A call to either service station will bring a licensed driver to pick up and deliver cars.

The seniors will also have a candy sale Saturday afternoon in front of K. Homra's store on Lake Street and in front of the Derby Restaurant.

MONEY can't buy better sleep than this

by don herold

Billionaire sleep for pennies on a Beautyrest

If you could spend $1,000 for a mattress, it would be no better than a $79.50 Beautyrest by Simmons (unless you added another $10 or a little more to get a Beautyrest Super size).

So why not have the very, very, very best mattress on earth while you're at it?

You spend 1/3 of your life in bed, yet you can't spend more than about $7 or so a year for Beautyrest luxury. (You'll spend $500 to $1,000 a year for a car, including depreciation, yet you may average only an hour a day in your car. You may spend $7 for a single meal at a good restaurant.)

Why are so many people mattress misers? It doesn't make sense.
